Two views of a chrome-plated brass kitchen faucet. The left view shows the faucet from a front-three-quarter angle, highlighting the high-arc spout and the two ceramic-lever handles. The right view shows the faucet from a side profile, emphasizing the length of the spout and the base. The faucet has a polished chrome finish and is set against a plain white background.
